Executive Director

For posting 2/15/2023

About Us

The Cooperative Development Institute (CDI, www.cdi.coop) is the Northeast's Center for cooperative business education, training, and technical assistance. CDI was founded in 1994 by leaders across industry sectors to build a cooperative economy in the Northeast. Our mission is to work with people in the Northeast to create cooperative businesses, housing, and networks that grow a prosperous, equitable economy. We envision a democratically owned and just economy where everyone can fulfill their needs and aspirations. We support, advise, and provide technical assistance to all sorts of cooperatives.

About Our Culture

CDI is a virtually based 501(c)(3) non-profit. Our staff enjoy their jobs and appreciate the flexibility of working from home, the commitment to continuous learning, and the interesting and varied work. Because our organization is transparent, accountable, and participatory, staff's ideas and opinions count. We are committed to maintaining this as a priority.

We promote economic prosperity for all through our work, our hiring practices, and our vigorous commitment to cooperative principles. Our organizational practice acknowledges and seeks to eliminate all forms of oppression. By examining bias within ourselves and our organization, we work mindfully to make our board and staff more inclusive. We actively support staff in addressing racism, classism, gender inequality, and all efforts to marginalize anyone. The nature of our work engages us directly with the working poor, the educationally disadvantaged, the elderly, immigrants, and refugees. It is our goal to see all of our clients prosper within the cooperative movement.

About This Transition

CDI is in the midst of a major transformation. CDI's previous Executive Director led the organization for 13 years, transitioning a small handful of staff to an organization with multiple program areas. When this leader stepped down in Fall 2022, CDI's Board of Directors hired an experienced Interim Executive Director to keep the organization stable, focused, and productive through the transition phase. CDI has used the interim period to reassess the organization's needs, analyze its programmatic goals and obligations, and clarify roles and responsibilities. Our year of transition will culminate in 2023 as we hire a new Executive Director who will work with us as we update our strategic initiatives, carefully examine our business model, and lead our organization through its next phase of existence. The new permanent Executive Director will ideally have a 30-45 day transition period with our outgoing Interim Director.

About this Position:

CDI is on the cusp of a major cultural and operational shift – moving from a scrappy entrepreneurial phase to a more mature and sustainable nonprofit. We are seeking a new Executive Director who can lead the organization through this transformation while helping us retain our core cooperative values.

CDI's next Executive Director will embody the values of honesty, integrity, justice, and fairness, and will respect the rights and views of people of differing perspectives. Our new leader will embrace cooperative values and principles, and will support CDI staff in upholding these in their work with clients and cooperative partners. Additionally, our new Executive Director will understand principles and models of democratic and collaborative management, and will have experience applying them to foster a just and enjoyable workplace.

To succeed in this role, the new Executive Director must have the ability to facilitate difficult conversations, involve staff in transparent and expedient decision-making, and present clearly communicated plans for action. The Executive Director will demonstrate in their work a commitment to the promotion of economic prosperity for all, will strive to eliminate all forms of oppression, and will take action to make our board and staff more inclusive.
